

Anchor institutions are nonprofit institutions—such as universities hospitals, museums, performance centers, and Libraries—that take root in and serve a community through economic development, their missions, and the development of intellectual and human capital.

From Public Research Universities: Serving the Public Good
(American Academy of Arts & Sciences, 2016)